Enterprise Postage Solutions

Stamps.com Enterprise is a postage meter alternative that allows federal agency employees to print real US postage using existing office PCs and printers. Agency staff can easily weigh packages and print postage onto labels, envelopes or plain paper. Agency management will have visibility into postage spending for all office locations via a secure online reports tool. Stamps.com is the only postage solution that helps your organization meet all federal mail accountability rules. It's the smart choice for any agency looking for an easy-to-use, easy-to-implement postage solution that gives complete visibility into postage spending and usage across multiple office locations.
